Weather

Winter (November–February): Winter in Kabini is cool and pleasant, with temperatures generally ranging from 12°C to 28°C. Early mornings and evenings can be chilly, especially during open-jeep safaris. This is a comfortable period for wildlife safaris and birdwatching, with good chances of spotting resident and migratory birds. Carry warm layers such as a fleece jacket, sweater, and a light windbreaker for morning safaris.
Summer (March–May): Summer is hot and dry, with temperatures generally ranging from 22°C to 36°C, and occasionally higher during peak afternoon hours. As natural water sources reduce, wildlife tends to concentrate around remaining waterholes, which can improve opportunities for sightings. Wear light, breathable cotton clothing, and carry a wide-brimmed hat, sunglasses, sunscreen, and drinking water.

Best Season for Wildlife

October to May is ideal for wildlife safaris in Kabini, with pleasant weather in the cooler months and better wildlife visibility during the drier season. March to May can be particularly rewarding for sightings near water sources, offering opportunities to spot elephants, tigers, leopards, gaurs and deer.
