TERAI - HEART OF THE WILD
5 NIGHTS / 6 DAYS

We are delighted to present an exclusive wildlife journey through the Terai region of Uttar Pradesh, part of the Terai Arc Landscape, nestled in the Himalayan foothills. Renowned for its lush sal forests, grasslands, wetlands, and river-fed plains, the Terai Arc is one of India's richest wildlife landscapes, encompassing Dudhwa and Pilibhit Tiger Reserves, along with Kishanpur and Katarniaghat Wildlife Sanctuaries. This remarkable landscape is home to iconic wildlife including the Bengal tiger, Indian rhinoceros, Asian elephant, leopard, swamp deer (barasingha), hog deer, spotted deer, nilgai, gharial, and over 500 species of resident and migratory birds. This curated journey offers immersive wildlife experiences across these pristine habitats, showcasing the raw beauty of the Terai and one of India's greatest conservation success stories.

Weather

Winter (November–February): Cool mornings and pleasant days offer excellent birding, with winter migrants joining resident species.
Summer (March–May): Hot and dry conditions draw wildlife to shrinking water sources, while thinning vegetation improves visibility. April and May are particularly good for wildlife sightings.

Best Season: November to February for birding; April and May for wildlife sightings.
